EXPLANATORY NOTES REGARDING PERFORMANCE

Gross fund performance (BVI method) takes into account all costs incurred at fund level (for example, management fees), net fund performance also takes into account the subscription fee. Further costs may be charged individually at customer level (e.g. custody fees, commissions and other charges). Example calculation (net method): An investor wishes to buy shares with capital of €1,000. Based on a maximum subscription fee of 5%, € 50 will be deducted from their investment as a one-off initial charge. In addition, custody fees may also be applied, which will further reduce the investor's return. The level of custody fees can be found in your bank's schedule of fees and services.

Please refer to the cost details presented in this document to determine the maximum subscription fee for the share class of the sub-fund.

The reference index is merely informative. It does not constitute any obligation from the fund manager to track the index or achieve the same performance.

Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future performance.

MONTHLY COMMENTARY

The number of vaccinations against Covid-19 is increasing. As a result, the economic outlook continues to brighten, supported by massive government aid packages. The now much more optimistic mood was also confirmed by many companies in their quarterly reports in April. Especially cyclicals such as Amphenol and Schneider, but also technology stocks, such as Alphabet, Apple, Microsoft and Facebook started the year very well. Despite the strong economic recovery, the central banks are sticking to their very expansive monetary policy. The US Federal Reserve, for example, declared at its April meeting that it would leave key interest rates at 0.0 per cent to 0.25 per cent and continue its securities purchases of around USD 120 billion per month. In this environment, the positive development of the past months on the equity markets continued in April. The global MSCI World equity index (including dividends in euros) rose by 2.2 per cent. The picture on the bond market was more mixed. 10-year US Treasuries yielded slightly lower on a monthly basis at 1.63 per cent, while the yield on 10-year German Bunds rose to -0.20 per cent. As the yield differential narrowed, the euro appreciated by more than two per cent against the US dollar, somewhat dampening the balance sheet for European investors in light of rising US equity prices and the rising price of gold (performance in US dollars: +3.6 per cent). In this environment, the Fund posted a value increase above 2.79 %. As in the previous month, equities delivered the highest value contributions, followed by gold. Bonds, conversely, posted slight losses. In equities, we built up an initial position in Amphenol and added to Dollar General. In contrast, we reduced our holdings in Alphabet, Facebook and Deutsche Wohnen. At the end of the month, the equity quota was hardly changed at 68.2 %. Regarding bonds, we only made a few adjustments to the positions. The bond ratio and duration are at the same level as the previous month at 15.6 % and 8.1 years. Regarding gold, by making an additional purchase we increased the quota to 9.33 % at the end of the month.

OPPORTUNITIES

- + Flexible investment policy without benchmarking.
- + Risk is broadly diversified by investing in a range of asset classes (e.g. equities, bonds, convertible bonds and precious metals indirect). Market potential can be exploited by investing across a wide range.
- + Investing in assets denominated in a foreign currency can have a positive impact on unit values as a result of exchange rate movements.
- + Derivatives can be used to increase potential yields.
- + Precious metals [indirect] (e.g. in the form of gold) can be used to increase potential yields.

RISKS

- Market risks: The securities in which the Management Company invests the sub-fund assets present opportunities for gain but also the possibility of risk. If a sub-fund invests directly or indirectly in securities and other assets, it is subject to many general trends and tendencies on the markets, which are sometimes attributable to irrational factors, particularly on the securities markets. Losses can occur when the market value of the assets decreases against the cost price. If a unit holder disposes of units in a sub-fund at a time when the quoted price of the sub-fund assets is less than at the time of investment, then the unit holder will not recover the full value of the investment. While each sub-fund constantly strives to achieve growth, growth cannot be guaranteed. The risk exposure of the investor is, however, limited to the sum invested. There is no obligation to make additional capital contributions beyond investors' investments.
- Currency risks: If a sub-fund holds assets which are denominated in foreign currencies, it shall be subject to currency risk. In the event of a devaluation of the foreign currency against the reference currency of the subfund, the value of the assets held in foreign currencies shall fall.
- Credit risks: The fund may invest part of its assets in bonds. The issuers of these bonds could become insolvent, causing the bonds to lose some or all of their value.
- Interest change risks: Investing in securities at a fixed rate of interest is connected with the possibility that the current interest rate at the time of issuance of a security could change. If the current interest rate increases as against the interest at the time of issue, fixed rate securities will generally decrease in value. Conversely, if the current interest rate falls, fixed rate securities will increase.
- Risks relating to the use of derivatives: The fund may enter into derivative transactions for the purposes listed in the KIID and the sales prospectus. This means increased opportunities, but also increased risk of losses. The use of derivatives to hedge against losses may also reduce the profit opportunities of the fund.
- Risks of precious metals and commodities: Precious metals and commodities may be subject to greater price fluctuations. Trading prices may also fall.

Please read the Prospectus and particularly the RISK WARNINGS section and the specific annex of the subfund to understand the risks and benefits of this product.

The historical data used for calculating the synthetic indicator is not a reliable indication of the future risk and reward profile of the share class. The category shown is not guaranteed to remain unchanged and may shift over time. Even the lowest category does not mean a risk-free investment. This share class has been placed in the aforementioned risk class because its unit price is subject to medium fluctuation, therefore the profit potential and loss exposure may be moderate. Because of the calculation model used, all risks may not be taken into consideration when placing the share class in a risk class.
